YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.
 The Young Men's Christian Association met in their hall on Saturday evening, pursuant to adjournment, for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee, recently appointed in regard to the adoption of measures to raise a fund for the relief of the destitute in our city. A minority report signed by two members of the committee (which was composed of five persons) was submitted by the chairman of the committee, after which the majority reported, simply, that they could not agree to the report just read, and had no plans to suggest, as they deemed the movement inexpedient.

The minority report was then acted upon. A motion to lay the whole matter upon the table was carried by a vote of 15 to 6. There being some dissatisfaction as to the manner of procedure, some of the members in favor of the plans complaining that the motion to lay it on the table was made to prevent their side from speaking upon their question, the vote was reconsidered and the motion withdrawn.

A motion was then made to adopt the plans suggested by the minority, which, after a lengthy and spirited discussion, was lost, by a vote of 10 to 16.

We do not understand from this transaction that the Association has declared that its members will not contribute to the relief of the poor, but the plans suggested for raising the money were not deemed practicable, and hence the action of the Association. Relieving the situation is not one of the objects of the Association, except so far as may be necessary for the accomplishment of their Christian work; but the most charitable spirit was manifested by those, even who opposed the plans suggested by the minority of the committee.

A TIMELY PRESENT.—Most fortunately do we think those liberal-hearted and enterprising jewellers, Messrs. Cook & Goodman, Third street, for the present of a superb office clock, one of the large assortment manufactured in Paris for them, bearing the imprint of their house, and recently imported from the French capital.

This clock is of the very latest style, and is made of the finest material and in the best possible manner. We could not have coveted a more acceptable gift, or one that we would place a higher value upon for its association. It came to us on the thirty-seventh anniversary of the Journal's birth, and is therefore truly appreciated. May we not hope that this goodly timepiece, which will tell us of the time, and while the hands upon its dial point out the winged moments, the kind donors may gather a harvest of fame, fortune, and friends that shall make them perennially happy.

In this timely connection we take pride in stating that Messrs. Cook & Goodman are establishing a trade that is excelled by few houses in this country for magnificence and confidence. They fill orders for goods in their line from all parts of the continent—even from the greatest trade centers. All this will be obvious to any one who may take a look at their newly-opened stock. It comprises one of the largest and richest assortments of watches, jewelry, plated ware, etc., to be found anywhere outside of Paris. These goods were all manufactured for the above proprietor firm, under the direct personal supervision of Mr. Cook, the senior of the firm, who spent the past spring and summer in France.

TRIPLE-STAR STATION HOUSE.—Jas. Murray and Alonzo Wiebold, a couple of belted and buffed fellows, engaged in a pugilistic encounter, Saturday, at the corner of Ninth and Jefferson streets, in which all the rules of the P. R. were scrupulously regarded. Just as they had finished one round, and the standing antagonist had said, "Are you ready?" Lieut. Needy, of the P. F., answered that he was, and each of the muscle-developing boys took "a wing," and accompanied that officer to the station-house.

Jas. Little felt a good deal smaller Saturday night, when he was taken by McKinney and Meador to the above mentioned establishment, charged with stealing money from Frank Zeigler's.

A RIDING HORSE.—Some people think that all riding horses are saddle horses. It is a mistake. We saw a horse yesterday attached to a car coming up Market street, who would, were he come to a crossing, almost conclude not to pull any more, but take a ride himself. He would stubbornly refuse to go any further, but would rear up on his hind legs as though determined to play jockey, until by a most severe application of rawhide he was induced to go to another crossing, when the same thing would be repeated. The other poor horse seemed to bear it all patiently, but the ladies in the car had to be assured more than once that no harm would reach them if they would keep their seats. And still they would exclaim, "That horse ought to be killed."

HAPPY COINCIDENCE.—Yesterday was the thirty-seventh anniversary of the birth of the Louisville Journal, and by a happy coincidence, the birthday of our senior editor's only surviving son, Colonel Clarence J. Prentice. We must be allowed to offer to sire and son our congratulations from the local department, and to wish them many happy returns of the day. May the latter imitate the virtues of our illustrious senior, his father, and live to perpetuate the glories of the Journal when its great master-spirit shall have passed away!

CATCH HIM AGAIN.—Fred Guy, a notorious character, who will be remembered as having been caught in Paducah and brought to this city some weeks since, and then sent to the penitentiary, charged with a robbery, committed on the L. & M. R. R., and various other crimes, broke jail a few days ago at that place and came back here. Yesterday he was caught, by Officer McKim, in a warehouse at Portland, and sent back to his old quarters in Castle Thomas.

LOUISVILLE AMPHITHEATRE.—We are requested to correct the announcement in the Democrat of yesterday of the opening of the Amphitheatre to-night. The horses having been delayed on the train from New York, the opening cannot take place before Wednesday or Thursday next. Due notice will be given of the opening as soon as the stock arrives. The building is all complete and ready for the show.

WALLACE'S AMERICAN STEP BOOK.—We have before us a nicely printed volume of 1,000 pages, giving the pedigrees of American racers and trotters. This is volume 1, and we suppose it is to be continued, as the names of some of the most famous racers and stallions are not in this volume. It is published by Messrs. W. A. Townsend & Co., New York city.

LOCAL BUDGET.

MANY THINGS OF MANY KINDS.

The Louisville Journal was thirty-seven years old yesterday, and was celebrating its birthday with a special number. The air was as soft and refreshing yesterday as that of the early spring.

The Ohio at this point continues low, and water and fuel are at a high premium.

Pickpockets, though they do not go to bed, are guided very much by the state of feeling.

Transfers of real estate in this city from the 10th to the 23rd inst. amounted to $165,123.35.

Captain Tobin, the eloquent Irish orator, will address a Fenian meeting at Limerick to-night.

Lithographic fac similes of the ball bond of Jefferson Davis are on sale in Richmond.

Col. Clarence J. Prentice was admitted to practice in the Jefferson Circuit Court on Saturday.

Just two dozen marriage licenses were issued by our handsome and popular County Clerk last week.

The roofing of the new Jewish Temple, corner of Sixth and Broadway, will be put on sometime this week.

Sixty deaths took place in Louisville during the past week, eighteen of them being caused by scarlatina maligna.

An adjourned meeting of the County Levy Court will be held to-day, when the everlasting jail question will be considered once more.

A wonder, we heard of no baseball playing in the commons yesterday. The boys are somewhat better in morals than they were.

If trade is dull, sharpen it with a newspaper horn. The Journal is warranted to put a good edge upon the bluntest trade corner.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day. Housewives and restaurateurs in the city are vigorously preparing for the gastronomic part of the celebration.

Julia Dean, whose engagement at the Louisville Theatre begins to-night, is deservedly popular here, and will doubtless attract large and fine audiences during the week.

Sunday school children were out yesterday in full force, presenting an array of tidy dresses and smiling faces that no one could behold without emotions of genuine sympathy.

All the churches were well attended yesterday. The people were favored with lovely weather, and the able-bodied had no valid excuse for not going forth to worship.

Rough exterior often cover refined natures. Men and women of brains rarely think it worth while to go into the business either for tailors, dress-makers, or jewelers.

A lawyer, named Frank Hicks, found guilty of stealing bacon, was ordered to receive twenty lashes, in the Circuit Court on Saturday. He saved the stolen bacon, but will not save his own.

We don't recollect of having seen this season a more "beggarly collection of empty chairs" than we saw in the theatre Saturday night. The play of "Caste" seemed to have cast a damper upon the play-going community.

George Francis Train, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Susan B. Anthony will address the people of Louisville at Weisiger Hall next Thursday night on universal suffrage and kindred topics.

The pupils of Mr. Wastell's dancing academy had a delightful box Saturday afternoon in the small hall of Masonic Temple. Parents and friends of the children were present in goodly numbers to enjoy the happy sight.

There is no more attractive feature in the hotel life at the Temple than the Sisters' Table. Every article there displayed is the handiwork of the inmates of the Convent of the Good Shepherd. Some of the specimens are really unique, and bespeak a rare gift of ingenuity.

Klauber, the capital photographer, has on exhibition at his gallery on Market street, some of the finest porcelain pictures ever taken, and a collection of monumental vases from Cave Hill Cemetery that no one can fail to admire. All of them were photographed by Klauber in person, and afford indubitable proof of his thorough mastery of his beautiful art.

The Christian Association, after much talk about raising a fund for the relief of the worthy poor in Louisville, on Saturday evening last killed the proposition dead, for the time being at least, by a vote of seven to sixteen against helping the distressed. Isn't this Christian Association misnamed? Or was its extraordinary action in this matter the result of a slim tendency?

Whether tenderness is a virtue depends very much on the object upon which it is exercised. It is quite thrown away on men and women of coarse natures. It is of no more use to be tender to a certain type of people than it would be to a row of so many iron or stone posts. Always look before you invest. It will prove that if you have good sense and do not want to fling it away on those who have none.

On Saturday evening last, we spent a most agreeable half hour in the cosy little sanctum of the "Mirror of the Fair," at the Masonic Temple. It is presided over by Mrs. M. H. Gallagher with the trust and literary dignity and gentleness. She has a staff of four or five charming and energetic feuilletonists. In their society the hard-worked daily localizer is not apt to murmur at his fate. He is, on the contrary, inspired by their example of good nature to undertake even more than his ordinary share of work.

One of the richest pictures that we have seen lately is that of His Holiness Pope Pius IX., on exhibition at the ladies' fair in Masonic Temple. It is the highly treasured property of our fellow-townsmen Mr. Henry Deppen, and one of twelve pictures of the Pope taken during the papal coronation at Rome. Mr. Deppen brought it from the Holy City not long ago. The picture is photographed on wood and colored in the most delicate manner. It is said to be a very life-like. A most elegant gilt frame encloses this rare likeness.

People are not naturally wicked despite the doctrine of total depravity. Men and women for the most part would never do wrong unless circumstances pressed them into it. No very recent reader half the world would be less than when it had better surroundings it would be good. Men drink and women dress to excess in a state of mind more or less removed from the sane. Circumstances have a long column to figure up, and if they don't get the worst of it one of these days something will go to smash pretty miscellaneous.

JEFFERSON CRIMINAL COURT.

HON. C. W. JOHNSON, JUDGE—NOVEMBER TERM, SIXTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The first week of the November term was closed Saturday, after the disposal of the following cases:

William Smith, five cases, for killing and maiming males in the county of Jefferson. A fine of $5 confessed in each case.

Henry Wintercom and wife, assaulting George W. Jewell, in the county. Jewell was acting in the capacity of Deputy County Constable, and went to the house of the accused to enforce a writ of delivery, when they assaulted him with a pistol, knife, whip, &c. The defense introduced witnesses to show that Mrs. Wintercom was struck by Jewell, and at this juncture Wintercom came up and made the assault. The accused was represented by General W. L. Jackson. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fined each the sum of $25.

Isaac and James Keys, assaulting Lewis Gair, in the county of Jefferson, on the 11th of August, 1867. This difficulty grew out of Gair killing some dogs belonging to the accused, which he alleges had been killing his sheep. General John M. Harlan, Colonel James F. Buckner, and Jell. Brown, Esq., appeared for the accused, and Samuel Russell, with Mr. Dupuy, for the prosecution. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and assessed their fine each at $75.

Henry Ager, stabbing J. M. Read with intent to kill, near the corner of Third and Market, on the first of March last. No witnesses for the Commonwealth appearing, the case was dismissed.

The case of John Williams, a negro boy, charged with stealing a watch from Lewis Hawes, on the 10th of June last, took a similar course.

Rhodes Williams (negro), shooting John Howard with intent to kill, on the 3d of June, 1867, near the farm of Colonel Christmas, in the county of Jefferson. He was found guilty of a misdemeanor and convicted to six months' confinement in the county jail.

Frank Hicks, a negro, indicted for stealing six dollars' worth of bacon from Thomas Roberts, was found guilty of a misdemeanor and ordered to receive twenty stripes.

CASES CONTINUED.
 The following cases were called and continued until the January term: Josephine Fields, larceny; Caroline Ash, false swearing; Phillip Pinner, larceny; James Grant, malicious shooting; John Broadway, movingly receiving stolen property; Jacques Strass, obtaining money under false pretenses—two cases; W. B. Kennedy, for murder; E. Rank, M. Seivall, M. Allen and F. Snively selling lottery tickets, and also setting up a lottery; John Strauberg, larceny; C. Murphy and Samuel Whitney, larceny.

FOR TRIAL TO-DAY.
 The following are the cases set for trial to-day: A. J. Batts, murder; Daniel Hodgkins, malicious stabbing; Jan. Graff, attempt to murder an infant; Ella Johnson, larceny; Henry Smith, James Richards, &c., rape; W. James and M. Pallian, larceny; Chris. Aiken, forgery.

LOUISVILLE CITY COURT.
 HON. J. HOPKINS ON THE BENCH.

Quite a large docket was disposed of Saturday. The cases were handled as follows:

Charles Beck, "too much to take;" $15 fine.
 Dan Williams, "hold soger boy," too much like the aforesaid Charles; $3 fine.
 Lewis Locke, Scott Smith, and George Smith, a trio of the genus Africanus juvenis, had too much fun on the street—no money, too noisy; $1 each.

Jennie Thomas, a feminine "culled puss," disorderly; $3.
 Jacob Brown, assault on Ed. Martin, set for to-day.

Emma Davis, highly colored, assault on Mary Carpenter, discharged on payment of costs.
 Jas. McElroy, another nigger boy, stealing pistol from Ed. Harrington, held in $200 bail to answer at the Circuit Court.

Emma Flanagan, an African female with a Celtic complexion, charged with stealing a basket of fruit, discharged.
 Charles Ballou and George Johnson, charged with robbing J. M. McCready of money, case set for to-day.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL EXHIBITION.
 On next Wednesday evening the Platonic Debating Society will give their first entertainment this season at the chapel of the Male High School. The performance will consist of a debate between two members on the subject of "The right of man to the right of man," and a recitation of a poem of Government, Republican or Monarchical? a selection from Shakespeare's Richard II., reading of the "Academical," a spicy paper published by the association, and several declamations and orations. The young gentlemen are to be assisted by Professor Sternberg, Mr. Whipple, and Dr. Price, who during the evening, will sing "The Old Veteran," "There's no such Girl as Mine," and "The Burial Song." The entertainment will conclude with the side-splitting chorus, "Jerusalem the Kettle on," and we'll all take Tea." Tickets are only fifty cents, and can be procured at D. P. Pauls' and Warner's Smokers' Emporium, and of W. Scott Gore, corner of Jefferson and Third.

MONTHLY EXERCISES OF THE ACADEMY OF LEARNING.—Last Friday the students of Messrs. Shennak and Harney's school, on Chestnut street, between Second and Third, gave their first declamatory exercises. Though all deserve commendation, the following merit especial notice: Messrs. Platt and Breeding, former members of the Male High School, declaimed in their usual satisfactory style. "Robert Emmet," as delivered by Mr. Lee Alexander, was a true personation of that Irish hero, the dialogue between Messrs. Tom, Tracy, and Edwin Crutcher elicited great applause. We may add that this School will give an entertainment every Friday. An invitation is tendered to the public at large.

THE FAIR.—We (the Senior Editor) visited the Ladies' Fair, at the Masonic Hall, the other evening, and were delighted with all that we saw. Thousands of charming things were for sale by scores of charming women and girls. We were under special obligations to Mrs. Maxey, of the Cathedral Refreshment Table, for a variety of as delicious refreshments as ever fascinated the taste of the nicest epicure.

We thank Mrs. M. H. Gallagher, the accomplished editor of "The Mirror of the Fair," for her flattering and kindly notice of our brief visit, which we hope to repeat to-night.

THE ATTENTION OF A CROWD was attracted yesterday to a swallowhawk that was trying to catch swallows about the Cathedral square, although the hour to pray had passed.

ONE DROWN FULL-BLOODED COOLIES

who have served out their apprenticeship in Cuba arrived in New Orleans on the 15th on board of the steamship Star of the Union, consigned to Mr. J. J. Wickes, with whom they have entered into a contract to work for the space of twelve months. The contracts, indorsed by the American Consul at Havana, embrace the following provisions: "The Coolies hired by Wickes are the sum of fourteen dollars a month in United States currency, to work daily, from daybreak to dark, with two hours' instruction for breakfast and dinner, and during sugar-making to stand watch at night, as is the custom on sugar plantations. They are not to be called upon to labor on Sunday, save when it shall become necessary to secure the crop, feed stock, or attend to necessary household duties. In case of failure on their part, they bind themselves to reimburse their employer, either in cash or by work, for traveling and other expenses incurred in bringing them to New Orleans. They also authorize Mr. Wickes to transfer his contract at his discretion. The average amount of money advanced them for passage, etc., was $20.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, a lady most highly esteemed in this community for her public and private virtues, enters upon an engagement at the Louisville Theatre this evening. She has not appeared before a Louisville audience in many years, and we recollect that it was here she made her debut into the dramatic world, that our own city was the scene of her first and many subsequent triumphs as an actress, it would indeed be unpardonable in our play
